INFO:

Friends.

The Navigators Guild have lost contact with the Aramis, a Locust Class shuttle transporting the Navigator Sirhaut. Its last known location is on the surface on the moon Asherot in the Gamaru system. Here's the thing: the shuttle disappeared in the vicinity of a Builder ruin: Nazlut-Katar 4, also known as the Black Ziggurat. That's where you come in, it would be foolish to think that the Navigator's disappearance has nothing to do with the ruin.

You are to travel to Asherot and locate Sirhaut as quickly as possible. If needed, you are to enter the ruin using standard protocol. Your primary objective is to bring the Navigator back, if that fails, you are to locate and retrieve his Guild bracelet that contains vital data.

A word of warning. Asherot is not a nice place. The atmosphere is poisonous, acid rains are not uncommon and there is reports of hostile wildlife. Proceed with caution.

This is a class II delve, you will be rewarded with 1,000 rukh each upon return to Ship City, with a bonus as a group of 2,500 rukh for any major artifacts returned and 1,000 for lesser artifacts.

Good luck and come back safe.
